Position of the role. The Director participates in the governance of the Company through the Board. The role holds no executive authority. The portfolio title describes what the Director oversees at Board level; it does not confer the power to manage that area, instruct its employees, sign for the Company, or commit it to a third party. Requests for information or action go through the Managing Director or the Chief Executive Officer.

Role Purpose

The Director brings judgement and challenge to the Board's decisions, and gives the assigned portfolio the attention of a Board member who has read its reports closely and asks the questions the executive may not ask itself.

Key Accountabilities

1. Board Participation

- Attend Board meetings, having read the papers in advance, and contribute to discussion and decision.
- Ask the question that has not been asked, particularly where a proposal carries regulatory, financial or reputational risk.
- Ensure that dissent, where held, is recorded in the minutes rather than withdrawn to reach consensus.
- Review the minutes before approval and confirm they reflect what was decided and why.

2. Portfolio Oversight

- Review the reporting for the assigned portfolio on the Board's cycle: performance, risk, controls and open issues.
- Raise concerns about the portfolio in the Board forum, through the Managing Director or the Chief Executive Officer, and record them.
- Do not direct, instruct or task employees in the portfolio, and do not approve operational matters within it.
- Meet the head of the portfolio only with the knowledge of the Chief Executive Officer, and give no instructions in that meeting.

3. Compliance Culture

- Support the independence of the compliance function in Board discussion.
- Never seek to influence a compliance determination, and never inform any person that a report has been or may be made.
- Report to the Board any concern about the Company's conduct that comes to the Director's attention by any route.

4. Statutory Duties as a Director

- Act in accordance with the Articles of Association, and in good faith to promote the objects of the Company for the benefit of its members as a whole, its employees and the community, as Section 166 of the Companies Act, 2013 requires.
- Exercise duties with due and reasonable care, skill and diligence, and with independent judgement.
- Avoid any situation in which a direct or indirect interest conflicts, or may conflict, with the interest of the Company.
- Disclose any concern or interest in other entities at the first Board meeting of each financial year and whenever it changes, as Section 184 requires, and take no part in any matter in which that interest arises.
- Achieve and attempt to achieve no undue gain or advantage for oneself, relatives, partners or associates.
- Maintain the Director Identification Number and director KYC in current standing, and inform the Company at once of any event that could give rise to disqualification under Section 164.
- Keep confidential all Board papers, deliberations and information received as a director, including after leaving office.

Authority and Limits

- Decides: only as a member of the Board, acting collectively. An individual director has no power to bind the Company.
- Holds no authority to instruct any employee, approve any transaction, sign any document or make any commitment on the Company's behalf, unless specifically authorised by Board resolution for that act.
- Holds no authority to direct or influence a compliance determination, release an order, or execute a payment.
- Presents the portfolio title externally only as a Board oversight role, never as a delegation of executive authority.

Board Evaluation Criteria

Board papers read before the meeting	Every meeting
Disclosures of interest made on time	100%
Instructions given directly to employees	Zero
Portfolio concerns raised and recorded through the Board	Every concern held

Eligibility

- Holds a Director Identification Number and current director KYC.

- Not disqualified under Section 164 of the Companies Act, 2013.
- Relevant experience for the assigned portfolio, and the independence of mind to challenge the executive.

Notes for the Board

Attending meetings only does not limit liability for a promoter director. The Companies Act, 2013 limits the liability of a non-executive director to matters that occurred with their knowledge through Board processes, with their consent or connivance, or where they did not act diligently. That limitation applies only to non-executive directors who are not promoters or key managerial personnel. A promoter who holds this position carries the full exposure of a director, however limited their involvement, and should read the papers accordingly.

A portfolio title can be mistaken for authority. A bank, platform or counterparty shown a card reading Director – Finance may assume the holder can sign or commit in finance matters. Where no such authority exists, the title should be used internally, or externally only alongside a clear statement of the role.

This role cannot be the Designated Director. That designation must be held by the Managing Director or a whole-time director.

This description defines the scope of a Board position. It does not replace the Articles of Association, the Companies Act, 2013, or the Board resolution by which the appointment is made, each of which prevails over this document where they differ.

Acknowledgement

I have read and understood this role charter and accept the duties and limits set out in it, including that I hold no executive authority and give no instructions to employees.
